

Simplex audio communication system

Axitour AT-900

The Axitour AT-900 Touring System is our newest audio communications system for guided tours. The simplex communication system facilitates one-way communication with the guests who are following the tour. The big advantage of this audio communication system is that simultaneously two guides can speak to a group, by the "open-line" connection. The guests hear the conversation from the guides by the headset which is connected to the 'receiver' AT-900 unit.

The communication system has a range of approximately 100 meters, 80 channels and a crystal clear sound. The communication systems can be stored in a charging case with space for 20 or 40 units. We also offer a transport bag with space for 48 units.
